

THREE HER SON FROM THE WINDOW.
Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Leopold After Nine—The Boy Killed, His Mother Severely Injured.

Mrs. Margaret Dohn, 35 years old, of 250 Eleventh street, Hoboken, threw her five-year-old son Frank out of a window at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and then jumped after him from the fire escape. The boy's skull was fractured and both legs were broken. He died at noon. The woman landed on her feet. Both legs were broken, and she received internal injuries which make her condition critical.

Mrs. Dohn and her husband, H. V. Dohn, live on the third floor of a two-story apartment house. Dohn is employed in the Fletcher Iron Works in New York. The family consists of the husband, wife, and three children, the oldest of whom is a pretty girl of fifteen. In December last Mrs. Dohn gave birth to a baby, which died on Jan. 22. Mrs. Dohn became insane after the death of the infant. Then there were intervals when she was rational, and knew that at other times she was not in her right mind. She had three times been admitted to institutions, and three times released. She never slept without the aid of opiates. It was for cures to take an opiate, throw herself on the bed fully dressed, and sleep until the next morning.

The boy told the story of yesterday morning's tragedy between sons and tears. He said he was aroused about 1 o'clock by his mother's screams, and ran to the room where she lay. He hurried into the room and saw her mother climbing out on the fire escape with Frank in her arms. The girl screamed, and Frank, who was held for a moment and then fell, hit the boy to the stone pavement forty feet below. Miss Dohn sprang across the room, hitting the boy, but could not save him. Mrs. Dohn climbed out on the fire escape and sprang off. Miss Dohn alarmed the household with her screams, and when her husband came home he found his wife lying down to the doorway, they found mother and son lying side by side unconscious.

An ambulance was sent to St. Mary's Hospital, but did not receive consciousness. Mrs. Dohn became conscious in the afternoon. She was not informed of the boy's death. When asked if she had done as she did she said:

"The Lord commands me to let my boy and jump to the bottom of the earth."

MR. CRAIG'S APPEAL.

Seeking a Reversal of the Verdict by Which His Wife Secured a Divorce.

The appeal from the verdict of the jury in the suit of Mrs. E. Cray against William R. Cray for absolute divorce, which was tried several months ago and resulted in favor of the plaintiff, was argued yesterday before the General Term of the City Court in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Craig, the daughter of ex-Mayor James Howell, and her husband, living with parents since the night she fled from her husband's house with her two children about two years ago, Mrs. Cray explained that the presence of Miss Tunstall, a cousin of her husband's, and certain discoveries she had made were the cause of her flight. On the trial Miss Tunstall, a widow, had testified that she had and with her face shielded behind a large fan made a confession. Mr. Cray did not take the stand, but admitted the damaging allegations and Mrs. Cray claimed that her decree and the custody of her two children.

Lawyer Abner Hummel, who argued the appeal, said he had no objection to the verdict, but did not believe it was correct. The jury removed the boy from the courtroom, and when it was reassembled, it had decided to set aside the verdict. Miss Tunstall, he said, was allowed to hold a fan to her face and give her testimony behind it, although counsel for the defense requested that it be removed. The jury, he contended, should have been allowed to see the woman's face while she was testifying. Mr. Hummel said further: "My client will submit a letter to ex-Mayor Howell, denying the alleged improper intimacy with Mr. Cray."

Decision was reserved.

Brooklyn Policemen Want More Pay.

Some of the policemen in Brooklyn think they are entitled to more salary, and if their claims are officially recognized the police estimates for next year will have to be considerably increased. A law was passed in 1884 which made the police salaries fit cities with a population in excess of 600,000 as follows: First year, $1,000; second year, $1,100; third year, $1,200. As New York was the only city with a population at that time, the law applied only to that city, but now that the recent Federal census has shown that Brooklyn's population is more than 800,000, it is contended that the law of 1884 no longer in effect in Brooklyn also. Brooklyn's police force is graded as follows: First year, $900; second year, $1,000; third year, $1,100.

After a long discussion, the Board of Estimate yesterday and requested his consideration of the matter, intimating that if necessary the courts would be appealed to.

Mr. Jacobs Wants $10,000 Damages.

HACKENACK, March 31.—Worthington M. Jacobs, a civil engineer and member of the Rutherford Wheelmen, was expelled from that body on Jan. 10, on charges of defrauding the club, and E. G. Welch was expelled for conduct unbecoming a gentleman. These two with R. Burgess formed a committee that managed a lawn party for the wheelmen in the fall of 1881. The committee, which was composed of which Mr. Jacobs was chairman, could not be induced to make a report or an accounting. An investigating committee was appointed with John W. Harding as chairman, and it was upon the report of this committee that Jacobs and Welch were expelled. But justice was伸张ed.

To-day Lawyer William M. Johnson began suit against Mr. Van Hollen on behalf of Jacobs for $10,000 damages for libel in the report and injury to his character by his expulsion from the club. Mr. Jacobs says he did not know that he was libeled, but he is charged with misappropriating that no charge was ever preferred against him on notice served upon him to appear and answer as to the charge of defrauding the club, and that the report against him was due to animosity.
